On May 31

We had a working breakfast with Malaria No More representatives, and CDC representatives to go over the agenda for the day. We toured Hospital Foyer Saint Camille and discussed with Malaria partners including local health specialists the joint work with CDC and Malaria No More to fight Malaria in Haiti. Afterwards, we toured the National Laboratory and Insectary and learned from the Director and his team about the outreach programs with Malaria Zero partners that are working on a campaign to tackle Malaria in rural communities and remote areas in Haiti. Our last visit for the day included a visit to Handicap International at the Healing Hands for Haiti Center. The Program Director briefed the group and discussed the mission of the center, provided a tour of the orthotic and prosthetic workshop and the benefits provided to disabled children and adults in Haiti.
